Office Hours—10 to 12 A.M. and 2 to 4 P.M. Ready-to-Pay Street between Fourth and Carson.BOOTS HAVE HAD THEIR DAY.The Trade Badly Affected by the Increased Wear of Shoes.The diminished use of boots is a matter of concern to the manufacturers of them and to the producers of heavy leather and heavy calfskins. Twenty years ago the calf boot industry was a leading one in New England.Whole towns were studded with factories which produced calf boots exclusively. For a decade the sale has been gradually falling off, and today it is of hardly any importance.A few manufacturers of shoes include boots as a specialty, but the demand is too light to amount to much. When calf boots were more in vogue, manufacturers consulted the partialities of the cowboys, to whom price was a secondary consideration.The legs were frequently corded with silk stitching. The star and crescent and other fanciful ornaments were inlaid on the legs of the boots. The soles were infused with copper, zinc and brass nails. The cowboys no longer pay $10 to $20 for a pair of boots. They want substance instead of show. But they were not the only wearers of calf boots. They were extensively worn. Many men prefer them today, though the number is growing less. The old fashioned stegos boots were formerly sold in large quantities. They are well nigh obsolete. There followed a demand for lighter and more stylish article. A kid boot of lighter texture was produced about equal in appearance to the best calf boot, but this, too, has fallen somewhat into disuse. Where there were 20 factories producing boots exclusively, there is now but one. Even the farriers are using heavy shoes instead of boots, and if it becomes necessary to wear long legged boots they buy rubbers.Twenty years ago the entire product of Salem and Peabody was heavy boots and brogan leather. Today there are less than half a dozen tanners making it. Brogans and plowshares are indispensable in many sections of country, but there are comparatively few exclusive manufacturers of these now.The Caledmore, Don Pedro, English tines and creole congress are supplanting them. The decline in the consumption of calf boots affects the tanners of calfskins. It is a question what is to be done with heavy skins. The tanners must necessarily buy more or less of them. They cannot select light and medium weights exclusively, and if they tan them they feel no certainty of being able to dispose of them in the finished state. There is nevertheless a use in this world for whatever is good for anything, and there will be some way of disposing of heavy calfskins, though for the moment it appears difficult to point out the direction into which they will be moved.—Shoe and Leather ReporterFight Between Bull and Alligator. I heard an interesting story of a fight between an alligator and a big bull on the shores of Lake Okeechobee. Alligators are quite numerous in that lake, and it is little visited by white men, though Seminole Indians fish and hunt there. Herds of cattle roam about through that section of the state, and the bull in question belonged to one of these herds. It was drinking at a small inlet on the lake when its nose was caught by an alligator. The bull managed to free itself by pulling the gator partly out of the water. It then lowered its horns and caught the gator, throwing it on the bank. When the bull made another attack, the alligator struck the bull with its tail and severely hurt it. The bull managed to tear a hole in the abdomen or soft spot of the gator, but on another charge the gator broke one of the legs of the bull by a blow from its tail. This disabled the bull, and the gator managed to break another leg in the same way, but the saurian soon died to death, and the bull, when found with its two broken legs, had to be shot.The Instructions and ExercisesAre conducted by mail practically in the same manner as those in our College Rooms which makes them equal with personal instruction, and lead the student to a full and clear understanding of the science of account.We offer the above-named course free to introduce our work in your community. THE CARSON MINT

The San Francisco papers contain grave charges against the Carson Mint. The Chronicle has a two column article on the subject. It says the disappearance of over $60,000 created no surprise in official circles, as the Government was fully warned of the dishonest practices which have been in vogue at the mint for years. The United States was informed by those who offered to prove their charges that the Carson mint was being used as a sink in which a gigantic ring of manipulators concealed its thefts from the mines on the Comstock and turned into coin millions of dollars stolen from the mills.

The Chronicle says the existence of this ring has been proved. Its methods are matters of court record in San Francisco. For years the stockholders of the mines have been robbed and it is charged that the Carson mint was the Governmental "fence" for the plunderers.

The work of exposing the great ring may be carried out by the Federal Inspector, who is now trying to trace about $60,000 in bullion which has mysteriously disappeared from the mint. This inspector, it is said, can expose if he wishes a scandal without parallel in the mining history of the Coast. Those who are well informed on the subject in San Francisco express a belief that the money which the Government is now seeking was stolen from the mint under the last administration by men who knew the unlawful acts of their superiors and determined to avail themselves of an opportunity to seal which might not come again.

The statements published in the Chronicle are said by that paper to be of record in the courts. They incriminate directly and indirectly several prominent men and are of a very serious character, and, if not true, may lead to several libel suits. Meantime the inspector and mint officials make no statement for publication, though, it is said, they are thoroughly investigating the matter and in due time will give the result of their investigations to the public.

THE AVENDED FISH LAW

The full text of the Fish law as unredacted is printed in the JOURNAL. It is ambiguous and contradictory and a jury would be justifiable in acquitting a person prosecuted for violating its provisions. Section two makes it unlawful for any person between the first day of October and the first day of June to catch or kill any river, lake or brook trout or land-locked salmon in any of the streams, rivers, lakes or other waters within this State. The same section provides that the close season as to lake trout shall commence on the first of January and end on the first of May of each year, while another clause in the same section provides that the close season shall commence on the first day of February of each year and end on the first day of June of each year. It will be observed that catching or killing fish between the first of October and the first of June of each year in any of the waters in the State is unlawful, while the close season for lake trout is in one clause from January to May, and in another clause from February 1st to June 1st of each year. It would puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer to determine what the law means, but it will probably be explained in the Justice's Court if any person catch any fish in "any of the streams, rivers, lakes or other waters of the State."

HOW, NOW, MR. "TRIBUNE"

The Carson Tribune says Nixon of Humboldt "has reaped a portion of the reward being dispensed to his party by the Southern Pacific Railroad, having been appointed claim adjuster."

Now comes the San Francisco Chronicle which says that the appointment of claim adjuster lies between Judge Dudley of Stockton, California, and Mr. Bender of Nevada. If the Chronicle is right it must follow from the logic of the Tribune, that Mr. Dudley or Mr. Bender will reap a portion of the reward being dispensed to the Republican party for services rendered the railroad company.

Isn't it probable Mr. Tribune, that the Southern Pacific company may select a gentleman for the important position of claim adjuster because of his business qualifications and not for his political opinions?

A SWEDO named Nordstrom was convicted of murder in Washington State. He was not indicted for the crime, but was tried on information. His attorney, Colonel J. H. Lewis of Seattle, has appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States on the ground that when Washington was admitted the act of admission provided that the State Constitution should have no provision repugnant to the Federal Constitution. Notwithstanding this the Constitution of Washington authorizes the trial of a person for capital crime on information, while there is a clause in the Federal law which provides that trials for capital offenses must be on indictment.

California robbers are now turning their attention to saloons, believing that next to banks they have the most ready cash. Two of them entered a saloon in the most central part of Santa Rosa, Cal., ordered the inmates to throw up their hands, dumped the contents of the money drawer into a sack and departed.

THE DEBS CASE.

It is Being Argued Before the Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The United States Supreme Court to-day began hearing the arguments in the case of Eugene V. Debs, President of the American Railway Union, and others. Attorney General Olney, Assistant Attorney General Whitney and Edwin Walker, the special United States attorney, appeared for the Government.

Debs and associates ask for a writ of habeas corpus relieving them from the sentence of imprisonment passed upon them by Judge Woods.

The fact was developed that the main contention of the petitioners would be an original bill. It was stated that no case was cognizable in chancery and therefore the injunction was void, and the persons at whom it was aimed were not bound to observe it. In support of this proposition they asserted that without statutory authority from Congress the Government could maintain no such bill and no such authority could be found, unless it be in the Act of 1890, known as the Sherman Anti-Trust Act; but they contended that this Act was unconstitutional, because involving proceedings in chancery in such a case it deprived the defendants of the right of trial by a jury contrary to the sixth amendment to the Constitution.

INSURANCE MATTERS.

Judge McKenna holds the Board of Underwriters to be a Legal Body

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—In the United States Circuit Court this morning Judge McKenna rendered a decision in the injunction proceedings brought by the Continental Insurance Company against the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific Coast. The decision is against the Continental Company and holds that the Board of Underwriters is a legal body and that its members had the right to say that they would not do business with companies not of the Union. The only point of the decision favoring the plaintiff is regarding the action of the San Jose agent of the combine, who had advertised that he would cancel policies brought to him. The court holds that the combine had no right to give public notice to this effect.

A JOKE ON DEPEW.

He Mistakes College Boys for Politicians

RUTHERFORDON, N. C., March 25.—Seventy-five college boys went to the train to-day to meet a protestor who was returning. When he stepped off the train the boys gave him the old college yell. Chauncey M. Depew, who was on the train, thought the boys were cheering him. He stepped out on the platform and made the boys a political speech. The train moved off and Dr. Depew never saw the joke.

Dealing in Coyote Sculls.

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—E L Colnon was sworn in as President of the Harbor Commissioners to-day.

The Governor has ascertained that a box containing 223 pounds of coyote scalps was shipped from Fort Wayne to Kansas City, and thence to Bakersfield in Kern county.

The Governor claims the right to cut out of all bills all appropriations save the law specifying that no bill may carry more than one appropriation.

Prince Bismarck's Birthday

BERLIN, March 25.—The celebration of the eightieth anniversary of the birth of Prince Bismarck, which occurs April 1st, may be said to have commenced to-day, as 302 members of the Reichstag and the Prussian Diet started during the day for Friedrichsruhe to congratulate the ex-Chancellor.

The Lecture Last Night

The court-room was comfortably filled last evening with an appreciative audience, the occasion being the second of the series of lectures by President Stubbs of the University. The subject of "A Day With Plato in Athens" was exceedingly well handled by Dr. Stubbs, and his audience was highly entertained. He spoke of the thoughts and works of men in those ancient days and reviewed the history of events in Athens, Sparta, Thebes and Macedonia.

Dr. Stubbs is a pleasant and very entertaining speaker and has the faculty of holding the attention of his audience so that every word is comprehended, and time passes so quickly that one can hardly realize that the hour has gone.

THE FISH LAW.

Full Text of the Act Approved March 16, 1895.

An Act to amend Section two of an Act entitled an Act to amend Sections two and four of an Act entitled "An Act amendatory of and supplementary to an Act entitled an Act to provide for the preservation of fish in the waters of this State," approved March 5, 1877, and to repeal section nine of said Act," approved March 19, 1891, approved March 10, 1893.

Section 1. Section two of said Act is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Sec. two. It shall not be lawful for any person or persons between the first day of October of each year and the first day of June of each year to catch or kill any river, lake or brook trout or land-locked salmon in any of the streams, rivers, lakes, or other waters within the State; provided, that the "close season" as to lake trout in all the lakes of this State shall commence on the first day of January of each year and end on the first day of May of each year; and provided further, that the close season as to the waters of the Humboldt river and its tributaries shall commence on the first day of November of each year and end on the first day of June of each year. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than $20 nor more than $100 or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one day for each $2 of fine, or by both such fine and imprisonment; provided, that the "close season" as to lake trout in all the lakes of this State, shall commence on the first day of February of each year and end on the first day of June of each year.

Sec. 2. Section four of said Act is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section four. It shall not be lawful for any railroad corporation, express company or other common carriers or private parties, to ship or transport for sale, or to receive for shipping, or to have in their possession for transportation, any of the river or brook trout or land-locked salmon taken from the rivers, lakes or other waters of this State between the first day of October of each year, and the first day of June of each year, nor to ship or transport or sale, or to receive for transportation, any lake trout taken from any lake or other waters of this State between the first day of February and the first day of June of each year, nor at any time to have in their possession any illegally caught fish taken from the waters of this State. Any railway corporation, express company or other common carriers or private parties or managing agent of any railroad corporation, express company or common carrier violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than $20 nor more than $100, or by imprisonment in the county jail at the rate of one day for each $2 of fine, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 3. Section eight shall be amended to read as follows:

Section eight. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to remove my spawn, or ova, from any variety of trout, or from any lake, river or stream, in the State of Nevada, without first having obtained a written permit so to do from the State Fish Commissioner.

QUICKSILVER STOLEN.

A Raid on the Reduction Works.

The brick vault at the Reduction Works in which quicksilver and other articles were stored was entered by burglars who stole twelve flasks of quicksilver, containing about 76 pounds each. The building was entered some time between the 7th and 17th of March. H. H. Beck offers a reward of $100 for the recovery of the quicksilver or he will pay $10 for each and every flask returned.

The quicksilver is of no particular use to any body but placer miners or mill men, and who ever stole it must have intended to use it for one or the other of those purposes or dispose of it to somebody who is engaged in mining or milling.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

COMPOUND INTEREST.

The Europeans Have Applied it to the United States With Disastrous Results.

Very few people realize the enormous absorbing capacity of money placed at compound interest. The ten billion dollars which the people and corporations of the United States now owe the Europeans, with the exception of less than one per cent of that amount, is the result of compound interest. This fact is proved by a study of trade balances and the movements of the precious metals. The balance of trade, taken as a whole, since this country has achieved its alleged independence, has been largely in our favor. Our exports of specie have also been enormously in excess of the imports, and yet, in the face of this favorable showing, we owe the Europeans not less than ten billion dollars, and the debt is growing as fast as compound interest can make it.

If the Europeans leave this debt, which we owe them, at compound interest for another century, it will then amount to not less than the trillion, three hundred and fifteen billion dollars. A sum considerably in excess of the total valuation of the planet earth.

For this privilege the European bondholders will doubtless demand that Congress keep on enacting laws to strengthen Uncle Sam's credit with the money kings of Europe.

It is now being realized with compound interest.

A SPLENDID COMPANY.

The Best Play of the Season Billed for the Opera House.

Santa Rosa Republican: "The best play of the season" is the expression heard from all who saw the Smith-Lieb Company at the Athenaeum Monday evening. The company is an exceptionally meritorious one and fully entitled to all the good things that have been said about it in the papers and by people who have recommended it to our citizens. There are no sticks in it, but each member is a strong factor in the success of the presentation.

"Hermione" was the play produced Monday evening, and it is one of those powerful pieces which carries one along through every scene and situation with an interest that is refreshing, for there is something in it better than is found in the majority of clap-trap stuff worked out on the stage in these days. Carl Smith and Beatrice Lieb are superior actors and Miss Margaret Reid, Miss Bridges and the other members of the company furnish splendid support.

Pioneer Dead.

J. M. Brown died at his home in Unionville last Friday. He was stricken with paralysis a month ago and never recovered from the shock. He was a native of Pennsylvania, age about 75 years. He came to Nevada in early days from California and was Superintendent of the Pioneer Mill owned by the late John C. Fall, the first quartz mill built in Nevada east of the Comstock. He served several terms as Justice of the Peace and was known to all the old timers in Humboldt county as "Squire" Brown. He was a man of strict integrity and was highly respected by all who knew him.

What Stamps the Legislature.

It is not always the laws made by a Legislature that stamps that body as a capable one, but it is, to a great extent, the Acts that are presented from becoming laws that show whether or not the members are level headed. The Legislature just adjourned refused to pass a number of Acts which have been a great drain upon the State—Lyon County Times.

DEAR DISCIPLINE.

In prisoned in an absence drear
By Jailer Time
For unknown crime,
Resigned, I high in narrow sphere.
But laughing Love, who looks disdain,
To me brings in
For discipline
A presence which my soul enchains
Now sweet is my captivity
When solitude
Does thus include
The one who is most dear to me.
So Pyramus as I have heard,
His Thisbe dear.
So far, the year,
Could woo, though neither spoke a word.

SAD LIFE OF A BEAUTY.

The Countess of Dudley a Devoted Wife to Her Repulsive Husband.Georgia, countess of Dudley, enjoys the well deserved reputation of being not only one of the most beautiful matrons in London society, but also one of the kindest and most warm hearted of the great ladies of Mayfair. She is a devoted mother and deserves a great amount of credit for the manner in which she has brought up her children and for the devoted care and loyalty which she manifested to her eccentric husband. Until his death her existence was little better than a martyrdom,
which she bore with the most exemplary patience and fortitude. The late earl was many years her senior and the reverse of handsome, in addition to which he in many matters was entirely insane, having inherited his madness from his father. All this would have caused many a mother to hesitate before even permitting her daughter to wed such a man, but Lady Dudley's mother, Lady Louisa Moncrieffe, dazzled by the earl's income of over $8,000,000 a year, forced her lovely daughter to bind herself to him.The contrast between the beautiful woman and the almost repulsive looking husband who was her constant companion was so startling that it drew forth the hackneyed exclamation of "Beauty and the beast" wherever they went. Had Lord Dudley been less wealthy he would inevitably have been confined in a madhouse, but even during the closing years of his life Lady Dudley never permitted him to be considered as insane, although he seldom experienced lucid moments. Lady Dudley was the second wife of the late earl and has seven children, six sons and one daughter.—Philadelphia Press.

A Tough Manxman.

I'm a Manxman, and I have inherited a rugged constitution. I seldom wear gloves even in your winters, and much of the time I go without an overcoat.For many years I followed the sea, and I had one adventure that few would have lived to tell of. It was a midnight of December when I was ordered aloft to stow the main royal, and before I knew what I was about I fell from the yardarm into the sea. No one on deck had noticed my fall, and apparently no one had heard my cry, for the ship kept right on. There I was with heavy boots and a heavy coat, alone amid the waves of the Atlantic. You may not believe me, but I did not feel greatly alarmed.
I managed to get out of my boots and coat, and then I began to swim to keep myself afloat. Somehow I felt that I should be saved. We had passed a vessel about sunset, and I thought she'd come along and pick me up. I had been a good swimmer all my life, and I kept afloat till daybreak; when that other vessel did come along and fish me out, four hours after I fell in. We got into New York three days after my ship arrived, and when I came aboard, as she lay at her wharf, my mates took me for a ghost.—New York Sun.
